PEACE OF MINDSM

CUSTOM CONTROL PANELS YOU CAN DEPEND ON

At Axis Engineering, we specialize in CONTROL PANEL building solutions tailored to your exact specifications. With a facility dedicated to panel shop building, our focus is on delivering reliable, organized, and compliant control panels that meet the highest standards in the industry.

Axis Engineering Approach

The world of manufacturing is one of change, uncertainty, variability and chaos. Dramatic shifts in demand, supply, cost and availability of materials, energy, market conditions, interest rates, geopolitical issues and green initiatives will likely get more volatile. Axis Engineering Group understands the world of manufacturing and will help you gain control and create a more successful manufacturing environment.

Why Axis Engineering

Certified for Industry Compliance

We're UL 508A Certified, so you can count on panels that meet top-tier safety and compliance standards. It helps speed up inspections, avoid costly rework, and gives everyone more peace of mind. It's one more way Axis Engineering delivers quality you can trust — right out of the box.

Peace of Mind Process for Collaboration

At Axis Engineering, we don't just build panels — we build trust. We work closely with your team to determine the ideal configuration for your control panels. You're involved throughout the design and implementation process for maximum alignment.

Built with Experience & Excellence

Backed by over 50 years of combined skilled experience, our detail-focused craftsmanship delivers clearly labeled and meticulously organized panels.
